

What's New in the Course?

The basic content of the course has not changed. However, based on suggestions that were submitted over the past year, we made many small changes to improve the quality of the course. Thank you for your comments and suggestions. We will continue to use them to improve future editions of the course and website.

This year the quiz at the end of the course has been revised with new questions. It is our hope that everyone who took the course in 2005 will review the material again this year.

In addition, we have developed a second or “advanced” quiz consisting of more challenging questions about the U.S. Constitution. These questions generally relate to the extra material in the course found under the “Know More” banner. Individuals who complete either quiz can print a certificate of completion online.
